When you use the Service(s), you may provide MLC with personal information about you. This may include, without limitation, your name and contact information, and/or financial information to make or receive payment for Services obtained through the Site or otherwise. When you use the Services, we may also collect information related to such use by you, and aggregate this with information about MLC Users (defined below), which helps MLC improve our Services for you and other MLC Users. MLC may collect the following types of personal information about you in the course of the provision of the Services and/or use of the Site by you:

- Personal Information: In the course of using the Services, MLC may require or otherwise collect information that identifies the User as a specific individual and can be used to contact or identify the User (“Personal Information”). Examples of Personal Information include your name, email address, company address, billing address, and phone number.
- Payment Information: If the User uses the Services to make payments, MLC will also collect certain payment information of the the User, such as MLC's third party payment processor shall render some Personal Information (but not all) into a form of Non-Identifying Information referred to in this Privacy Policy as "Hashed Information." This is typically accomplished using a mathematical process (commonly known as a randomized hash function) using a randomly generated number to convert information into a code to protect the User's security. The code does not identify the User directly, but it may be used to connect the User's activity and interests to such code. When Non-Identifying Information is combined with Personal Information, then MLC shall treat such Non-Identifying Information as follows:

- Combination of Personal and Non-Identifying Information: Certain Non-Identifying Information would be considered a part of the User's Personal Information if it were combined with other identifiers in a way that enables the User to be identified (e.g. combining postal code with information with the User's name). But the same pieces of information are considered Non-Identifying Information when they are taken alone or combined only with other non-identifying information (e.g. combining postal code with the User's viewing preferences). We use both persistent Cookies that remain on the User’s computer or similar device (e.g. as to save the User Account registration ID and login password for future logins to the Services and to track the User’s compliance with the Terms and Conditions), and session ID Cookies, which expire at the end of User’s browser session (e.g. to enable certain features of the Services, to better understand how the User and other MLC Users interact with the Services and to monitor aggregate usage by the User and other MLC Users and web traffic routing on the Service). The User can control the use of Cookies at the individual browser level, but if the User chooses to disable Cookies, it may limit the use of certain features or functionality of the Site and/or Services.
- Web Beacons: We and our marketing partners, affiliates, analytics, and service providers may also employ software technology known as “web beacons” and/or “tracking tags” to help us keep track of what content on our Service is effective and to serve relevant advertising to you. Web beacons are small graphics with a unique identifier that may be invisible to you, and which are used to track the online activity of Internet users. Web beacons are embedded in the web pages you review or email messages you receive.
